20a. How does the Committee accomplish its purpose?

The NASA Advisory Council is one of two principal Agency advisory committees that report directly to the NASA Administrator. The Council underwent a major reorganization during FY 2014 and is currently comprised of five standing committees: Aeronautics; Human Exploration and Operations; Institutional; Science; and Technology, Innovation and Engineering. The Council holds three meetings per year. During Council meetings, the members receive special topic briefings from Agency leadership, and reports from each of the standing committee covering the breadth of NASA programs. The Council develops findings and recommendations for the NASA Administrator, and deliberates in meetings open to the public. Council findings and recommendations are transmitted to the NASA Administrator, whereupon they are carefully considered by the Agency leadership. Agency official responses to each of the Council recommendations are provided back to the Council. The Council and its committees are supported by contractor personnel for meetings, travel and logistics as noted under "other costs."

20b. How does the Committee balance its membership?

Members of the Council are selected for their expertise in the areas of the five standing committees: Members come from government, academia, and private industry. In addition, the Council has two ex officio members representing the National Academy of Sciences (Chair, Space Studies Board) and the National Academy of Engineering (Chair, Aeronautics and Space Engineering Board).

20c. How frequent and relevant are the Committee Meetings?

The Council meets three times per year. The NASA Administrator participates in the Council meetings.

20d. Why can't the advice or information this committee provides be obtained elsewhere?

The Council is unique in that it is the only Agency-sponsored Federal advisory committee that produces findings and recommendations across the broad range of Agency plans, programs, implementation strategies, and evaluations of Agency progress, for consideration by the NASA Administrator and Agency leadership

20e. Why is it necessary to close and/or partially closed committee meetings?

Narrative Description

The NASA Advisory Council and its five committees operate in full compliance with the NASA Strategic Plan, and receive reports, briefings, and plans across the breadth of Agency programs, projects, policies and issues. The Council takes these reports and develops findings and recommendations for Agency consideration. The recommendations are formally evaluated by the Agency and official agency responses to these recommendations are transmitted back to the Council.

Number of Recommendations Comments

In FY 2006, the Council provided NASA with a total of 25 recommendations. In FY 2007, 56 recommendations were submitted to NASA as the Agency was implementing the President's Vision for Space Exploration. A total of 35 of the 56 recommendations came from the Lunar Science Workshop on Science Associated with the Lunar Exploration Architecture (co-sponsored by the Council and NASA). This event was to draw expertise for the Lunar Exploration Architecture from the science communities in the areas of heliophysics, astrophysics, planetary science, planetary protection, and Earth science. The other 21 recommendations were from the Council's 4 quarterly meetings. In FY 2008, a total of 15 recommendations were conveyed to the NASA Administrator as an outcome of the Council's 4 quarterly meetings in the areas of Aeronautics, Exploration, Human Capital, Science, and Space Operations. In FY 2009, a total of 17 recommendations were conveyed to the Agency resulting from the Council's 4 quarterly meetings. In FY 2010, a total of 19 recommendations were conveyed to the Agency resulting from the Council's 4 quarterly meetings. In FY 2011, a total of 23 recommendations were conveyed to the Agency resulting from the Council's 4 quarterly meetings. In FY 2012, a total of 17 recommendations were conveyed to the Agency resulting from the Council's 2 meetings. In FY 2013, a total of 25 recommendations were conveyed to the Agency resulting from the Council's 3 meetings. In FY 2014, a total of 9 recommendations were conveyed to the Agency resulting from the Council's 3 meetings. In FY 2015, a total of 7 recommendations were conveyed to the Agency resulting from the Council's 3 meetings. The grand total of recommendations conveyed by the NASA Advisory Council to NASA during the ten-year period from FY 2006 through FY 2015 is 213. In FY 2016, a total of 2 recommendations were conveyed to the Agency resulting from the Council's 3 meetings. In FY 2017, a total of 2 recommendations were conveyed to the Agency resulting from the Council's 3 meetings. In FY 2018, 4 recommendations were conveyed to the Agency leadership from the Council's 3 meetings.
